News Roundup

A PETITION DRIVE to force Monterey County supervisors to rescind the pay increase they granted themselves or let the voters decide has succeeded.

Petitions, circulated by the Monterey County Taxpayers Association, contained 7,544 valid signatures, well in excess of the required 5,949.

The supervisors have the alternative of calling off the salary increase which raised their monthly pay to $1,250 from $800 before a special election ballot recommended for November 6.

DEL MONTE SHOPPING CENTER has reported an increase of over 10 per cent for year ending 1972. Final reported sales for 1972 were over the $24.1 million mark, opposed to just over $21.8 for calendar year 1971. This 10 per cent increase of 1972 is against a 1971 increase of 12 per cent.

THE BIG SUR RIVER in Monterey County was one of the seven central coastal counties that were stocked with catchable trout last week according to the Department of Fish and game.

City Council Reduces Property Tax Rate

An overall five cent reduction of the tax rate, approval of a bus subsidy increase, and endorsement of the proposed Monterey City Cultural and Conference Center were passed by the Seaside City Council last Thursday.

In a relatively short two and one-half hour meeting, the Council adopted a $3.25 million-plus annual budget for the city and set the property tax rate at $1.90 per $100 of assessed valuation for fiscal 1973-74. Last year, the rate was $1.95 per $100 of assessed valuation. Total revenue from the rate will be $608,797.

Bus Subsidy

The Council also approved a $594 bus subsidy increase requested by the joint powers agency, responsible for public transportation. The monthly increase will boost the city's payments to $1,567.

However, the Council will request of the agency that bus service be extended to include Aguajito Road (Municipal Courthouse), the Community Hospital, Ft. Ord and Marina.

Cultural Center

The city Council unanimously passed a resolution to endorse the proposed Monterey Cultural and Conference Center after lengthy discussion.

Mayor B.J. Dolan commented that "Monterey, as well as all of us, have a stake in the center. Seaside unsucessfully tried to do this once and now Monterey needs the additional support to carry it through."

Councilman Joe Cota said this was a precedent resolution, noting Monterey asked the Council for support in this, but not other matters that affect Seaside.

"They're asking us to approve the design, the building, the whole bit...not just moral support," he said. "This council should be consulted on other Monterey actions if they affect us," he said.

Local Service Agencies May Become One Corporation

Nearly twenty representatives from various Seaside service agencies gathered last Wednesday to mull over the idea of cooperatively banding together as a corporation to alleviate their administrative and fund-raising duties.

The two and one-half hour meeting held at the Area Service Center in Seaside was organized by Ms. Cappi Patterson, head of her own public relations firm.

The proposed corporation, known as a consortium, would serve as a central "umbrella" agency to individual agencies. The two primary purposes would be to take over the time-consuming and confusing administrative details and fund-raising efforts on behalf of the agencies and to give the relatively poorer service agencies a chance to share in the large grants the consortium hopes to raise from government, business and private sources.

"Each agency is now in keen competition with each other for money," Ms. Patterson said. "As it is now, whenever a grant comes in to the city, whoever happens to be standing in line gets it. The other agencies had no chance to get the money, and they flounder. It's the survival of the fittest."

Funds received by the consortium would go into a central pot and be allocated to member agencies after the board of directors "thrash" out the decision of who needs a certain amount of money, according to Ms. Patterson.

The board of directors would be composed of a representative of each participating agency, she said.

The consortium would not try to run the agencies' programs and each agency would still be able to muster their own funds, she said. In addition, they would not have to con-

Taxes Are Distributed

Board Member George R. Reilly has announced that more than $77.6 million will be distributed this week to California cities and counties from local sales and use tax funds received by the State Board of Equalization. This represents the third advance payment to the cities and counties of funds received from business taxpayers for the second quarter 1973. The balance of the second quarter sales and use tax moneys will be distributed as "clean-up" payments to the cities and counties in the month of September.

The city of Seaside will receive $43,000 as its share of the $51.4 million, and the county of Monterey will receive $80,000 plus $152,500 from the 1/4 percent county local transportation fund.

Other cities that will receive monies are: Monterey - $147,500; Sand City - $2,000; Pacific Grove - $19,000; Del Rey Oaks - $6,150; Carmel - $35,500; Salinas - $247,500; Soledad - $4,900; Greenfield - $2,400; and King City - $15.000.

City's Side Of K-Mart Controversy

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to controversy over the proposed "K-Mart building, city officials of the city of Seaside were contacted who supplied the following report.

To answer many queries, the facts below are important regarding "K-MART:"

EMPLOYMENT

The main commercial developer anticipates approximately 150 full time employees and an additional 15 part time employees. Most of these new jobs will be available to local people. Additionally, of course, major construction trades will be involved with the development of the project.

BUSINESS OPERATIONS TAX

These taxes are established by gross receipts. It is estimated that the tax return from the major tenant will be between $5,000 to $6,000 per year.

SALES TAX REVENUE

The major tenant's gross sales are estimated between $8 and $10 million per year from which the City would derive between $80 to $100 thousand in sales tax revenue. An additional $8 to $10 thousand per year would be derived from the market and satellite stores.

ASSESSED VALUE

Tax increment bonds for an estimated period of 25 years will be used to finance the improvement of the parking area. A Stone & Youngberg representative, financial consultant for the Parking Authority, has recently confirmed the feasibility of this financing approach. Following bond retirement, the increase in assessed valuation over the frozen base would revert to the City and other taxing agencies. With initial development and inventory values at approximately $4 million, a minimum A.V. of $1 million is estimated. At current rates this would provide the City an additional amount of $18,000 per annum upon amortization of the bonds.

BLIGHT REMOVAL

The amount of the City's financial participation in the parking improvements would provide us approximately two years of credit on the redevelopment goals of Laguna Grande, which include removal of the auto wrecking yards and acquisition of other properties for commercial and recreational use.

SITE LANDSCAPING

The Shopping Center landscaping and dune treatment will form an aesthetic back-drop to the Laguna Grande Master Plan as it develops.

RECREATIONAL FACILITIES

All of the Monterey Peninsula will benefit by the joint development of both sides of Laguna Grande Lake. The projected recreational improvements include: board walks with leisure areas on both banks; active recreation in more sheltered areas; protection of wild life vis-a-vis ducks, fish, birds and other wild fowl; provisions for aquatic and boating activities. These desirable improvements apply to both Laguna Grande and Roberts Lake.

NOTE: In talking to opposition of the building of K-Mart, the prime objections stemmed around the fact that K-Mart would be taking money out of the community, according to Oscar Lawson, manager of Cecil's Ice Cream Parlor in Seaside.

When asked about this matter, Mayor Dolan replied, "Of the 48 signatures appearing on the petition to appeal the K-Mart decision, I can only identify 8 signatures as bonafide Seaside residents."

Agencies May Form Corporation

tribute initial funds to join the consortium.

However, each member must submit a letter of committment and allow other agencies to study their books. The letter would agree to match received funds in some form, be it by staff and personnel, equipment, building loans or transportation modes, said Ms. Patterson.

Seaside Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Verlaine Crawford, and city councilman Stephen Ross, have been helping Ms. Patterson in research and getting the consortium off the ground.

Miss Crawford explained how she had had a similar idea of a consortium but a Chamber of Commerce-led foundation could not receive funds since it often acts as a lobby. She said she supported the proposed consortium and would go before her board of directors to get a go-ahead on the project.

Stephen Ross, Presidet of Task Force, also endorsed the idea.

"The prime concern is developing administrative capability to serve a disadvantaged community," said Ross. "There has been a need for many, many years for a large umbrella-type administration."

Duplication of service could be eliminated and swapping resources with other agencies would be another favorable feature of the consortium, said Ms. Patterson. The policies and other contract arrangements will be determined by the central and individual agencies and will be very flexible, she said.

Audience comments included those of Seaside Mayor B.J. Dolan. He said that, contrary to what the public may think, the businessman is not indifferent to the social needs of the community and they would back such a proposal if the needs were clearly defined and worked out. He said a general follow-up should be conducted to get the community together.

The Council would automatically adopt the consortium if it benefitted the community, he added.

Rev. H.H. Lusk of Operation Shoestrings, suggested the consortium start more slowly and cautiously and first "reach for the clouds instead of heaven."

Rex Whitworth from Monterey County General Hospital, endorsed the proposal but questioned whether the richer agencies would be willing to let the smaller agencies ride "on their coattails."

Council Reduces Tax Rate

Cota voted for endorsement to preserve "unity" in the council "hoping Monterey will come back to us in other matters."

Animal License Fees

An increase in dog license and other animal fees was adopted by the Council to conform to a new county fee schedule. Dog license, boarding and vaccination fees will be upped and a county spay/neuter program will start in the fall.

Other Actions

In other business, Council:

* Authorized the city staff to construct the Fremont Beautification Project by force account and purchase materials and supplies in the open market. Previous bids received for the project went several thousand dollars over the budget.

* Authorized the Fire Department to advertise for bids for a Pumper-Telesquirter unit.

* Approved Mrs. Lawton Garner's request for a rose garden to be planted at City Hall in memory of her husband. She said, in a letter to the Council, that she would pay for all costs. The Council also suggested a commemorative plaque and ceremoney for the garden.

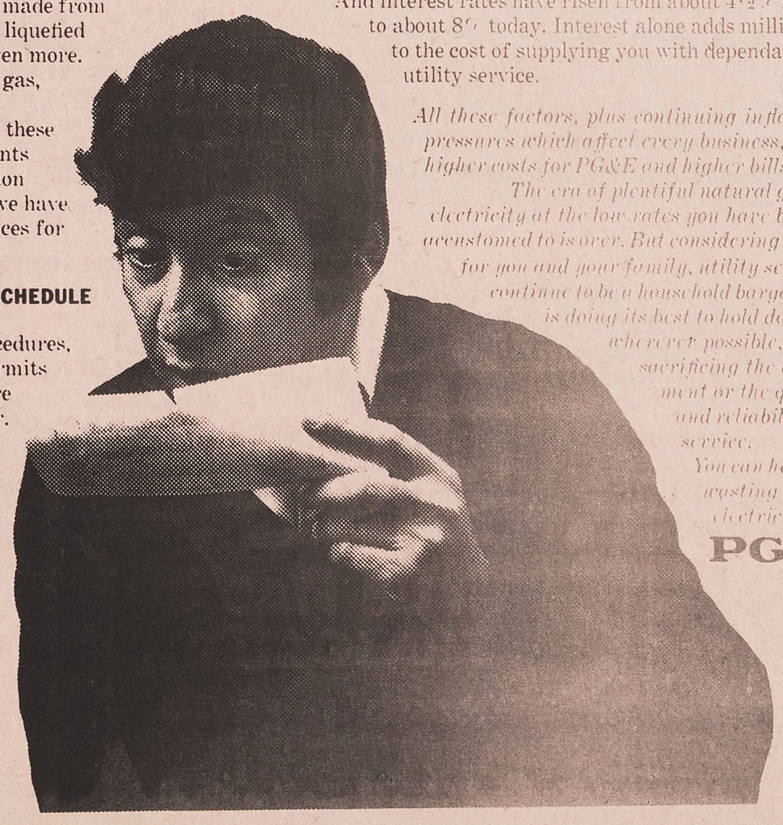
WHAT'S HAPPENING TO YOUR GAS AND ELECTRIC BILL?
You won't like it. We don't like it. But it's happening. Your monthly utility bill is going to get bigger and bigger.
Here's a look at the reasons why.
HIGHER FUEL COSTS.
Most of our steam-electric power plants are fueled by natural gas or oil. Unfortunately the cost of both fuels has gone up and will go up higher.
The search for new gas supplies, including exploration in Canada and the Alaskan north slope, is expensive. Such gas will cost more initially, and bringing it from greater distances will add to its price. Alternatives such as gas made from oil or coal, and imported liquefied natural gas could cost even more.
Besides natural gas, low-sulfur oil is the only acceptable fossil fuel for these steam-electric power plants under present air pollution control standards. And we have to pay high premium prices for low-sulfur oil.
CONSTRUCTION SCHEDULE DELAYS.
Regulatory procedures, requiring 30 or more permits from public agencies, are taking longer and longer. And new laws and regulations have established more complicated procedures for plant siting and construction. All these slow down construction schedules, and inflation alone is adding substantially to costs during these periods of delay.
ENVIRONMENTAL COSTS.
Communities have become a lot more attractive since we started putting power lines underground. But it costs money. So does building and landscaping esthetically pleasing plants, minimizing stack emissions and cooling water discharged from power plants. In fact, during the 1973-1976 period PG&E's environmental expenditures will exceed $300 million.
HIGHER INTEREST RATES.
Utilities are "capital intensive" industries. That means, when we build new facilities we have to raise vast sums of capital ($450 million this year). And interest rates have risen from about 4½% in 1965 to about 8% today. Interest alone adds millions to the cost of supplying you with dependable utility service.


All these factors, plus continuing inflationary pressures which affect every business, result in higher costs for PG&E and higher bills for you.
The era of plentiful natural gas and electricity at the low rates you have become accustomed to is over. But considering all it does for you and your family, utility service will continue to be a household bargain. PG&E is doing its best to hold down costs wherever possible, without sacrificing the environment or the quality and reliability of your service.
You can help—by not wasting gas or electricity.

Real Effects of Watergate

By Lou Haddad

Stupidity on the part of a few in high Republican politics could quite probably be the cause of domestic and international unrest. Sabotaging of Democratic headquarters was totally uncalled for, unnecessary and irresponsible.

According to all polls conducted during the election year of 1972, Nixon had no fear of losing office. And those perpetrating such underhanded goings on had no real cause for worry about retention of their jobs; it appeared that the Republicans were going to remain in office.

But let's take a look at the real effects of Watergate, and consider the real losers, the American people. The dollar continues to decrease in value abroad as well as here in America. Grocery prices are skyrocketing, due mostly to the insecurity and questionable future of all of us. Fuel seems to be scarce. Interest rates are highest ever. Inflation is out of hand, uncontrollable partly because our elected officials are concentrating more on Watergate and its effects rather than carrying on the business of making laws and bolstering the American prestige worldwide. And you can bet your bottom dollar that it isn't going to get any better until after the elections of 1974.

The Democrats, in control of the Watergate hearings, are going to get plenty of mileage out of those hearings. We can expect that they will not be completed before next year's primaries, in order to ensure that the public shall not forget what a few rotten Republicans may have done to contaminate the American barrel of apples. Other political maneuvers, under the guise of investigation, are being unfolded under our very eyes. We, the real losers, have no choice but to wait until the democrats have satisfied themselves that they have reaped the fruits of their carefully planned advantage.

Losers? In every form or fashion imaginable. Most Americans, according to a recent poll, wish that the Watergate scandal would simply go away. It is affecting the lives of us.

It is a shame that a few selfish politicians, to further their own ends, will sacrifice America and its people. We begin to wonder if there is any such thing as an honest politician in either party.

REDUCED LAW-BREAKING along Monterey's downtown Alvarado Street during a two-phase crack-down by the city's police, was reported by Monterey police chief Harold Benadom.

Between July 10 and August 10, he said, drag racing, prostitution and other crimes decreased, although the anti-crime program had been costly in time and men.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS cut $2.2 million of the $3.2 million proposed for a new county jail last week. A $1 million budget for fiscal 1973-74 will be used for planning, architectural fees and preliminary construction work once a study of jail needs is completed.

In response to pleas by the League of Women Voters and the County Bar Association, $150,000 was allocated for a complete jail study and initial funding of a follow-up program of jail alternatives.

C of C Progress Report

by Verlaine Crawford,

Does Seaside need a medical facility? Do we need a medical clinic? These were the questions raised at an interesting and informative meeting held at the Seaside Chamber of Commerce on Friday, August 10.

The primary result of the meeting seemed to be a new awareness of the medical needs of the people of Seaside and a new awakening of the desire to work together to solve mutual problems.

People from the community expressed the needs. They were Bernard Miller, representing the Homeowners Association; Lee Tolar from Young Adults for Action; Fred Phillips from Agappe; Rev. Lusk from Bethal Baptist Church; Cappi Patterson, representing several Seaside agencies; Sandy Chambliss, Public Relations and once involved in the Watts-Willowbrook Hospital and Clinic in Los Angeles.

The problems we face seem to rest in three areas. They are the need for doctors to see patients, some who can pay for medical care and others who need assistance in payment. Second would be the need for counseling services for people who are upset and need help, and for family counseling services. Third is the need for help for people with drug problems.

The County Administrator, Mr. McCauley; the County Health Officer, Mr. Kenan; and our County Supervisor, Roger Poyner told the people gathered at the meeting that the County Offices of Welfare and Preventative medicine will be moved to Seaside. $500,000 has been allocated to build offices for these facilities. But, these will not include a walk-in medical clinic.

The Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula, located on Holman Highway between Carmel and Pacific Grove, was represented by Mr. Tom Tonkin, Hospital Administrator; and Dr. Fred Ziegler, Administrator for the Mental Health Care Unit at the Hospital. They expressed the desire to help Seaside, but Mr. Tonkin pointed out that some of the equipment, such as X-Ray and Laboratory machines, is so expensive that it seems reasonable to centralize that kind of care at the hospital and not try to put it into a local clinic.

Dr. Ziegler said he has been working with Agappe and hopes to bring more mental health care to Seaside. Community Hospital recently received its second year of funding to provide Mental Health Care Services for the Peninsula. This service is available to the people in Seaside.

Burt Talcott, U.S. Congressman from our area, spoke to us about the many good things that have happened in Seaside....Urban Renewal, the County Hospital, Fort Ord Hospital, and that he is happy to see the kind of concern and consideration that would make such a meeting possible.

Dr. Phillip Thorngate represented the County Medical Society and said that they are studying the possibility of a clinic for Seaside with private doctors and other doctors who would provide consulting services. He feels that two areas of concern are transportation for people to get to the doctor, no matter where he is located, and that the program of health care payment (subsidized health payment) needs to be reorganized because it is too cumbersome to deal with.

Mayor Joe Dolan said that outsiders often don't understand the problems we face in Seaside. He said that the number one social problem in Seaside is that we need health facilities.

Mayor Dolan also said that Seaside has 20% of the population of the county, and that no taxes come here for medical services. He also mentioned that Seaside has less crime than any other city on the Peninsula. Dudley Lapham, Seaside City Manager, said that our meeting was a bit premature since the County is working on getting facilities into Seaside, but not primary care services.

Lou Haddad, former Mayor of Seaside, expressed that Seaside should have a four bed facility, an annex to the County Hospital. Allen Samuels, Director of Midcoast Comprehensive Health Planning, agreed that the minimum that Seaside needs is a clinic open 7 days a week and 24 hours a day.

Rev. Lusk commented that this was the first time that we've had this kind of representation at a meeting in Seaside. He said, "We're closer than we've ever been to doing this (building a clinic). The meeting has brought different factions together; we can eliminate splinter groups and get busy on priorities."

The next meeting for the unification of the various agencies in Seaside will be on Wednesday, Aug. 15, at 2 p.m. at 1580 Del Monte. The Board of Directors meeting is Thursday, Aug. 16, at 8 p.m. at the Chamber. Everyone is invited to come and participate.

Your Supervisor Reports

Roger Poyner

Last Wednesday your County Board of Supervisors ended a special meeting on the 1973-74 budget by cutting almost two million dollars from the suggested 3.2 million dollar "new jail" budget. The County tax rate will be cut approximately twenty cents. This is down from $2.39 per $100 of assessed value to about $2.19; remember that the rate two years ago was $2.80! Sure, assessed values go up, but as long as we have inflation this will always be the case.

Of great significance is, the decision of the Board to place emphasis on pre-trial release and rehabilitation programs instead of building a larger maximum security jail. Did you know that 70 percent of those in jail awaiting trial or disposition of their case will later be released or placed on probation? On September 18th the Board has set a hearing on how best to initiate positive programs to reduce our jail population.

Surviving the budget cuts was the $500,000 for the Monterey Peninsula County Welfare and Health Department building which will be located in Seaside somewhere east of Fremont near Broadway. This facility will not be any "annex" as some misinformed people have stated, but the center for County Welfare and Health Department activities on the Monterey Peninsula. I will continue to work with the City of Seaside, the Chamber of Commerce, and all interested groups and citizens in getting a true primary health care facility located in Seaside.

I am also pleased to report that the County of Monterey will increase its share of the bus subsidy to keep the buses on the Monterey Peninsula rolling. The final solution to our transportation problem is still many months away, but in the meantime at least, our minimal bus service must continue.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE

"Hello, Zeke. I heard you had a little trouble with rustlers. Did they get away?"

"One did, the other I got with buckshot. The worst part of it was I missed the President's speech. I guess he got all that Watergate mess all cleared up."

"Not exactly, but he sure cleared up a lot of other stuff. We know now that he hasn't got any use for people who use dirty tactics in election campaigns."

"Glad to hear it. Did he say anything about the price of chicken feed?"

"Yes, in a way. He said that his administration was elected to control inflation, which I suppose means that if the price of chicken feed is going up it must be just your imagination. Have you noticed any dizzy spells lately?"

"No, but those chickens of mine are going to have some if the price of feed keeps going up. What else did he say?"

"Well, he said his administration was also elected to reduce the power and size of government - to cut the cost of government so that you can cut the cost of living."

"Sure makes me happy to hear that. Maybe that means he is not going to make down payments on any more White Houses for us taxpayers to pay for improvements on. I ordinarily wouldn't mind paying $18,000 for a new tractor and some golf carts and some tinted windows for him at San Clemente, but my manure spreader needs a new main rear bearing and the guy at the garage says it will cost me an extra $50 because of inflation. Do you think it would do any good for me to send the bill to San Clemente?"

"It might get you on the White House Enemies List, which is quite an honor these days, everything considered. Oh, yes, another thing the President said was that a continued, backward-looking obsession with Watergate is causing this nation to neglect matters of far greater importance to all of the American people. What does "obsession" mean, Zeke?"

"That kind of means getting hung up on something, like the President got so hung up on killing communists in Asia that he neglected matters of far greater importance in America. I sure hope they have a re-run of his speech on the late show tonight. It must have been tremendous."

Letters to the Editor

Editor:

Watergate is a late warning that no society is immune from decay. Without a rigorous adherence to ethical principles - especially at the top - "anything goes." Permit me to suggest "TEN COMMANDMENTS OF GOOD GOVERNMENT:"

1. WE ARE THE PEOPLE who entrust thee with power. Thou Shalt Not neglect our welfare. CURB inflation. Balance permantly the budget. Reduce greatly the national debt. Help all of us, constantly, to attain prosperity and the good life.

2. Thou Shalt Not make unto thee any harsh image of authority. Thou shalt not bow down to it, for we - the PEOPLE - are jealous of our rights and will not put up with tyrants under whatever guise. And we will respect and honor leaders who are sincerely modest, truthful and kindly.

3. Thou Shalt Not lust for power, nor be unduly secretive, suspicious, and fearful, nor misuse "Executive Privilege" as if it was another version of the long discredited doctrine of "divine right of kings." Act nobly always.

4. Thou Shalt Not scorn and hold thyself aloft from common folks, nor tolerate that they get merely the crumbs of a prospering economy while some people roll in far greater luxury than aristocracy of old.

5. HONOR SENIOR CITIZENS. Their decades of constructive labor helped build our great nation. Provide for them well, not begrudgingly.

6. Thou Shalt Not abuse our country's overwhelming might to devastate and dominate weaker lands who do not threaten our borders. Remember: BLESSED ARE THE PEACEFUL!

7. Thou Shalt Not permit the forces of dissipation latent in society to boldly spread crime, dope, booze, pornography, evil vileness, and bring our nation to ruin.

8. Thou Shalt Not misuse thy office in government to enrich thyself.

9. Thou Shalt Not persecute those who are dedicated to honorable and peaceful government, nor restrict a free and responsible press from giving the public the truth.

10. Thou Shalt Not covet any part of modest incomes. Exempt thy citizens who need every dollar to "get by" in life presentably, from all income and property taxes. Aid them to climb the economic ladder to security.

Sincerely yours,
George Herman,
Marina

Bob Wood Reports

By the time you folks receive this report, we will have been back in the Legislature since last Monday. I don't doubt that the major item of interest will be the sales tax increase which went into effect July 1. Not unexpectedly, many of us Legislators and the majority of the public--faced with rising inflation--felt the tax was not wanted or needed. The whole issue turned into a political one in the closing days of the session before the legislative recess. I am sure many of you did not quite understand just how this all came about. This is understandable and I will try to explain it the best I can.

Actually, the one percent increase went into effect when Governor Reagan and the Assembly Speaker disagreed on how to dispose of the State's surplus after the sales tax was deferred for six months.

A bill by the Speaker and the only bill to reach the Assembly and Senate, passed both houses with a large majority. It called for a six months sales tax delay, plus an income tax credit of up to 30 percent with a maximum limit of $200 per couple or $100 for a single tax payer. The Governor's original plan was to also postpone the sales tax for six months, but would allow a 20 percent income tax credit to all tax payers in direct proportion to how they paid it with no limit. Of course, this would help those in the higher income brackets who paid a considerable share the state income tax total last year.

The Governor said that the Speaker's bill was "blackmail." However, he later offered a compromise of up to 35 percent in income tax rebates for all taxpayers. The speaker rejected this, and the Governor vetoed the original version of the bill. The end result being no bill and no delay in the sales tax. Exactly what course the Legislature will take concerning the unpopular sales tax increase is a good question. The issue is so politically complicated, that anything could happen--including a solution to the problem.

Monterey Peninsula Seaside — After Dark —

By Tom Nash

Sunday was a big day in the city of Seaside. It was the day the Retired Men's Social Club held their annual bar-b-que. However, this year they bar-b-qued a whole hog, and would you believe it, I tried to eat the whole thing.

I never thought I would have to use violence in order to get some food, but low and behold, one of those muscle-bounded, arrogant, young men, began throwing his weight around, and jumped in front of the line, ahead of me.

To set the stage properly for you, the aroma of bar-be-que had pemeated the air like an impeding catastrophe, and my lips had already started turning grey with want, when this bully got in front of me, and stepped on my toes in so doing. This infuriated me, and I just blew my cool. I marched in front of this young man in a threatening manner and waved my fist back and forth across his nose, and in my most intellegent manner, I informed him that if he didn't want to get a "fat lip," he had better get to the back of the line.

There were quite a few people witnessing the incident, and murmurs could be heard from the crowd, saying "who does he think he is, getting in front of the line," so I knew I had the crowd with me. Then I really went into my act. (Oh yes, I forgot to mention that this big bully was six-years-old.) Boy was I going to put a hurting on him.

The Bar-Be-Que was very successful, and they are looking forward to another in the near future. More about this in future issues. They served greens, cold slaw, beans with meat skins in them, potato salad, and as much meat as you could eat. One of the cooks, a Mr. Scruggs, got irritated because I asked for a doggy bag, and asked that it be filled for my dog (in Oklahoma). For refreshments they gave you a slice of pie, all for $2.

After eating my fill, and being helped from the table, I decided I would visit one of our advertisers in Salinas. So I went over to Dave's Wintergarden, where I met Sharon, the "dancing bar-maid." Sharon hipped me to the happenings in Salinas, and among the happenings were the plans for Labor Day. They are going to have a two-day celebration in Salinas, beginning Sunday, Sept. 2 at the Sheriff's Posse Grounds. There will be two big bands, beginning at 10 a.m. with a big Bar-Be-Que and all you can eat. Then on Monday, Sept. 3, at 8 p.m. the festivities will continue with a big dance and floor show.

Oscar Lawson invited me down to Cecil's Pizza Pub and Ice Cream Parlor on Fremont Blvd. for lunch, and, naturally, when I am invited my hunger comes forth like a shooting star. Would you believe it, Oscar has some of the finest food in town. I had a Pastrami sandwich that was out of sight. Oscar was watching my very closely to see that I didn't go back for seconds, but if you want some fine food, go by Cecil's and tell Oscar that I sent you. (Oh yes, Oscar. This plug goes on your personal bill, and don't you forget it. I usually send you a bill and send one copy to the collection agency at the same time.)

While I was in Salinas, I discovered that Frank Davis has all kinds of good food at Dave's Wintergarden. I didn't know this before. For instance, you can get Pork Chops & Onions, Polish Sausage & Onions, Fresh Pizzas, Bar-Be-Que Chicken, Hickory Smoked Bar-Be-Que Ribs, Mexican Chili, and if you are very lucky, Tiffanny Jones. (Dreamer)

My S-2 section has informed me that CLINTELL C. Porter, the "sneaky one," will fill the airways with the good sound of blues, beginning Sunday afternoon on KZEN, 107.1 on your FM Dial. No he is not going to sing (thank goodness), but he will be playing such sounds as Lil Green, Bessie Smith, Peetey Wheatstraw, Blind Lemon Jackson, and a host of other good sounding true blues singers. This will include some of the early recordings of B.B. King, Guitar Slim, and others of this caliber. Oh yes, I forgot to mention that I have been invited to do a live performance of one of my favorite blues numbers, "I Smell Your Bread a Burning, Please Turn Your Damper Down." I haven't made up my mind as yet as to whether I will sing on the show. I was thinking about rendering: "I looked Down The Road and Spied The Devil Coming, I took Off My Overcoat And Beat The Devil Running," but then I thought this might be too deep for the average listener. So I decided to forget it. Incidently, Clint will be on the air from 12 Noon to 2 p.m. each Sunday.

Free Clinics Are Scheduled

Special, free "Back to School" Immunization Clinics conducted by the Monterey County Department of Public Health will be held at 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey, today and on two following Wednesdays.

The dates are today (August 22), August 29, and Sept. 5 from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The agency is concerned that a recent study of Monterey County showed that almost 50 percent of the children, ages 6 weeks to 12 years, are not completely immunized against diptheria, whooping cough, tetanus, polio and measles. Many parents are forgetting to get their children immunized and this neglect may help turn back the clock to the time when thousands of children were crippled or died from disease complications, according to Health Education Director Joan Clayton.

This year, polio and diptheria have been reported in the Pacific states and Monterey County in recent years has reported one case of polio, 4 cases of whooping cough and one case of diptheria.

The Health Department urges parents to bring their children to these emergency clinics if they have not had all their innoculations or they are incomplete.

For more information, phone 373-0111. Mini-bus transportation can be provided.

JFK U Starting BA Program On Peninsula In Fall

The John F. Kennedy University, affiliated with the Martinez school and chartered in 1964, will begin a Bachelor of Arts program on the Peninsula in the fall.

The External Degree Program seeks to serve students who have the responsibilities of family, jobs and a commitment to community betterment, according to member Ron Cobley.

The External Degree Program will not have a campus, a permanent faculty or established courses, he faid. Instead, each student, with the aid of the University, will develop a network of learning resources to suit his or her individual study plan. The resources will include a committee composed of another student, a staff member, and one or more resource persons working in a field related to the student's study focus.

Courses of studies will include: internships with institutions, master craftsmen and agencies, seminars and classes facilitated by the director, one-to-one learning situations, self-designed independent projects, traditional classroom experiences and current job experience.

Requirements for graduation will include 180 quarter units of credit, a final project presentation, a focus of study, a knowledge of society and its institutions, and an effective use of communication skills both oral and written. Units are transferable to state colleges and universities, he said.

A fully accredited high school program will also be offered with all subject areas covered including Driver Education.

For more information about either program, call Ron Cobley at 375-5762.

Bill Would Provide More Jobs In State

Nearly 20,000 California jobs are riding on a proposed extension of the Emergency Employment Act which the Senate passed this month and which will be high on the House agenda when Congress reconvenes in September, according to Senator Alan Cranston.

The original act, passed two years ago, created the Public Employment Program (PEP) which pays local governments to hire the unemployed in public service jobs in the fields of education, law enforcement, hospital and health services, fire protection, public works, transportation, parks, recreation and environmental quality improvement.

More than 44,000 Californians have been employed under the program since it was launched in June 1971, including 19,424 who are presently holding down jobs which they will lose if the program is not extended.

The statistics on the major Public Employment Programs currently operating in California for Monterey County are: 4,900 persons unemployed; 335 persons placed in PEP jobs since August 1971; and 122 persons currently in PEP jobs.

The emergency bill (S.1560), which is co-sponsored by Cranston, calls for a two-year extension. But the Nixon Administration included no funds for the program in the federal budget it proposed for fiscal 1974.
